Tips on handling of Poinsettia plants upon arrival:

- ◆ Remove plants from boxes and un-sleeve immediately upon arrival.
- ◆ Check growing medium (soil) moisture level -- irrigate only if needed.
- ◆ Store un-sleeved plants in a lighted room at 65 - 75° F.
- ◆ Inspect plants for mechanical injury.
- ◆ Avoid exposing plants to Ethylene (produced by some produce).

Proper display of poinsettias will contribute to the sales, beauty, consumer appeal, interior performance and longevity. Display plants in an area providing good light levels from natural light, incandescent bulbs, or cool white deluxe fluorescent tubes. Other lamps contain too much blue light which does not show the real color of many poinsettia bracts. At temperatures of 73° F or higher, it is necessary to provide 100 foot candles of light, 12 hours daily, to minimize leaf yellowing and leaf drop. At interior temperatures of 65 - 70° F, light levels of 50 foot candles, 12 hours daily are acceptable. Plants should not be displayed in areas with direct sunlight or with drafts from heaters, air conditioners and open doors. Exposure to cold air drafts from open doors or windows can lead to premature leaf loss. It is very important to have adequate space between plants in the display so the leaves receive light. These factors will optimize the quality of the plant in the display and maximize the longevity of the plant for the consumer.
